POLICEMAN IS SHOT DEAD IN STREET BY MURDERER HE ATTEMPTS TO ARREST

Gunman Kills Lunch Room Keeper, Then Slays Patrolman Kiley in Brooklyn.

2 ACCOMPLICES HELD.

Leader of Robber Gang Confesses After Dying Blue-coat Identifies Him.

Another policeman was murdered in the performance of his duty to-day.
Michael J. Kiley of the Clanton avenue station in Brooklyn, a veteran of more than twenty-four years of honorable service, was shot down while attempting to arrest a young desper-ado who had just killed another man in a lunch room at No. 1049 Fulton street.

The double murderer, fleeing from Kiley, attempted to kill a citizen and another policeman before he was run down and placed under arrest. Later he made a confession implicating two accomplices, who, while they had no hand in the actual killing, will be tried for first degree murder, as they were engaged in an attempt to commit a crime and are in the position of the gunman who took part in the assassination of Herman Rosenthal.
Both the accomplices are under arrest.

Athanasios Basileos was the first victim of the desperado. He was manager of the Fulton street lunchroom and resided with three young men tried to rob him. One of the three shot him twice and he fell dead to the floor. Kiley died two hours after he was shot. Before he passed away he identified the murderer.

Christopher Dunn of No. 143 Waverly avenue, Brooklyn, is the man who did the shooting. His confession implicates Richard J. De Silva, twenty-seven years old, of No. 67 Vanderbilt avenue, and Walter W. Leppner, nineteen, of No. 543 East Fifty-first street, Brooklyn. Leppner was released a short time ago from a naval prison, where he served a sentence of ten months for larceny committed while he was a member of the crew of the battleship New Hampshire.

GUNMEN ORDER HAM AND EGGS
AS A RUSE.

The lunch room in which the first murder occurred is a small, all-night place. When three young men entered at 2:15 o'clock this morning and ordered ham and eggs, Basileos was alone in the restaurant part and a dishwasher was on duty in the kitchen.

As Basileos, unsuspecting, went about filling the orders, one of the three suddenly pointed a revolver at his head and ordered him to throw up his hands. Instead of obeying, the restaurant man showed fight and the man with the revolver pulled the trigger. One bullet went through Basileos's head, the other through his heart. The dishwasher, hearing the shooting, fled through a rear door while the three hold-up men dashed into Fulton street.

Apparently the shots had not been heard by any one in the neighborhood. Leppner ran away from the others and made his way to his home out near Canarsie. Dunn and De Silva remained together.

3,000 GIRL PUPILS MARCH IN ORDER AWAY FROM FIRE

Mothers of School Children Get Excited at Gates and Police Are Called.

A trifling fire in Public School No.
170, a modern building extending from One Hundred and Eleventh to One Hundred and Twelfth streets, between Fifth and Lenox avenues, caused the sounding of the rapid dismissal drill at 10:30 o'clock to-day. The 3,000 girl pupils assembled in the playground within three minutes.

There was not a trace of excitement or disorder. The fire was put out by the janitor and his assistants before the firemen arrived. At a signal the pupils went back to the class rooms, put their books away, got their wraps and went to their homes, all returning for the session this afternoon.

A pupil in 5th classroom on the fourth floor saw smoke issuing from a ventilator opening in the wall and notified the teacher, Miss Sarah Daily. The classroom adjoins the office of Miss Emily Morton, assistant principal. She was called by Miss Daily and at once sounded the rapid dismissal drill, which calls upon the pupils to proceed to the yard in a specified formation.

None of the girls except those in 5th classroom knew that the drill had been called because of danger from a fire. While the pupils were marching out the principal, Elizabeth Sullivan, told Charles Brundage, the janitor, of the fire and he sent in a special alarm and went to the fourth floor classroom with a fire extinguisher.
The extinguisher drowned out a smoldering fire in dust and rubbish that had collected in the ventilator and was probably kindled by a defective electric wire. Although the damage was trifling, it was deemed best to send the pupils to their homes in order that the ventilator might be examined.

Another reason for sending the pupils away from the school was the rapid congregation of hundreds of mothers about the school gates. The mothers were more excited than the children. As soon as possible the fire apparatus was sent back, but police reserves from the West One Hundred and Twenty-third street station were called to prevent the mothers from storming the gates.

The drill so cleverly executed today has been a feature of Public School No. 170 for the past eleven years. The building is five stories high and the exodus of pupils in less than three minutes was viewed with some pride by Principal Sullivan and her assistants.

BODIES OF HEROES
BEING SENT HOME
ON BIG WARSHIP.

VERA CRUZ, May 4.—A mid impressive ceremonies the armored cruiser Montana, with seventeen American dead, who were killed by snipers during the assault on Vera Cruz, steamed out of the roadstead late yesterday on her way to New York. With flag at half mast, the ship's band playing a solemn dirge, the cruiser passed slowly down the parallel lines formed by the fifteen American battleships and the auxiliary fleet, while the crews, in full uniform, stood at attention.

As the Montana came abreast of each vessel, the marines presented arms and the ship's bands joined in the funeral march.

BULLET-RIDDLED LINER HERE WITH VERA CRUZ REFUGEES WHO WITNESSED BATTLE

Caught Between the Fusilades of Rebel and Federal Troops Going Into Tampico.

With the upperworks riddled with bullet holes, the steamship Guantanamo of the Ward line steamed into port this morning with twenty refugees from Mexico on board. Eighteen of the refugees are from Tampico, and two from Vera Cruz. The steamship was twice under fire, once in Tampico and again during the fight in Vera Cruz.

The Guatanamo arrived off Tampico on April 6 and started up the river to the city proper between both Federal and rebel troops, being directly exposed to their lines of fire.
Bullets whistled through the rigging and cut into the upperworks of the ship. Capt. Seely ordered his passengers and such of his crew as were not necessary on deck to keep under cover. For half an hour the steamer stood a fusillade and it was a marvel that no one was hit.

On Sunday, April 13, when the Guatanamo arrived in Vera Cruz, the city was as peaceful as Boston in church time. In the afternoon a Mexican band played in the plaza and the people in their Sunday best strolled about as quietly as delegates to the Hague.

Tuesday morning there was a radical change for the American sailors and marines began to land and the battle was on, with the transport Prairie opening the engagement.

Austin T. Sackett, an oil contractor of No. 144 East Fifty-sixth street, said he was standing on the deck of the Guatanamo looking at the Prairie when the firing began.

"We were directly in the way of the firing," said Mr. Sackett. "We could hear the shells shrieking as they passed us and could follow them as they went over the city into the hills beyond."

McCarthy, who had charge of the telephone system of the Aguila Oil Company of Tampico, told of a doleful engagement of American marines in which they shot two snipers, one of them being a priest.

"We were ashore during the fight."

PRESIDENT IS COMING TO HONOR DEAD HEROES

Wilson Will Deliver Address at Funeral Ceremony in Navy Yard.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson plans to go to Brooklyn next Monday and meet the Montana, which is bringing to the United States the bodies of the men killed at Vera Cruz.
This statement was made early today by Secretary Daniels after a conference with the President.

In case public business makes it impossible for President Wilson to leave Washington he will send a personal representative to meet the funeral ship.

Secretary Daniels said he would make the trip to New York to attend the funeral services of the sailors and marines on the Presidential yacht Mayflower, leaving probably Saturday night. He will meet the funeral ship Montana off the Virginia Capes and escort her to the New York Navy Yard.

As soon as the Montana has reported the hour of her expected arrival in New York, Secretary Daniels will complete with the officials of the New York Navy Yard arrangements for the funeral. If President Wilson is unable to attend, Secretary Daniels will make an address in his name and will read a tribute to the heroic dead from the President's own pen.

After the funeral services at the Brooklyn yard the Montana will continue to Boston, bearing the body of Daniel A. Hagerty, the marine private whose home was in Cambridge, Mass.

SULLIVAN EXECUTORS
LIKELY TO GO TO JAIL

Surrogate Declares Them in Contempt for Failure to File Inventory of Big Tim's Estate.

Surrogate John P. Cohalan signed an attachment this afternoon, which serves as a warrant for the arrest of Patrick A. Sullivan and Larry Mulligan, executors of the estate of the late "Big Tim" Sullivan. They are in contempt for failure to file an inventory of the estate as ordered by the Surrogate last week.

The order was signed at 4:30 o'clock, too late for service to-day. It will be given to the Sheriff for service tomorrow, and unless the matter is straightened out Sullivan and Mulligan will be taken to Ludlow Street Jail.

The inventory was to have been produced this afternoon. Paul E.
Fogers, counsel for William Fox, who is suing the Sullivan estate for $29,000, was on hand to press his contention that the inventory should be filed.

FUNSTON STRENGTHENS HIS POSITION TO REPEL ATTACK BY MEXICANS

Reports to War Department That Federal Officials Call Upon Troops to Give Up Vera Cruz Waterworks to Them.

TRANSPORTS MADE READY TO RUSH IN REINFORCEMENTS

Texas City Regiments Prepare to Embark to Aid of Invaders as Soon as Orders Are Sent Out.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Another fruitless demand by Mexican soldiers for the surrender of the water works just outside of Vera Cruz was reported to the War Department to-day by Brig.-Gen. Funston.

The report said Mexican officers called upon an American outpost to surrender, but made no vigorous effort to enforce their demand. The Mexicans retired and no shots were fired.

Gen. Funston has asked for instructions as to contemplated steps.

Either the Fourth or the Sixth Brigade of the Second Division of the army, both of whose headquarters are at Texas City, will follow Gen.
Funston's brigade to Vera Cruz if it is determined reinforcements are necessary. Both brigades are composed of infantry, the Fourth of the Twenty-third, Twenty-sixth and the Twenty-seventh, and the Sixth of the Eleventh, Eighteenth and Twenty-second Regiments.

Col. R. L. Bullard of the Twenty-sixth Infantry is temporarily in command of the Fourth Brigade and, according to the original plan, Brig.-Gen.
Charles J. Bailey, now in command of the North Atlantic Coast Artillery District, was to take command of this brigade. Brig.-Gen. Thomas F. Davis commands the Sixth Brigade and doubtless would accompany it to Mexico.

The four army transports which conveyed Gen. Funston and his troops to Vera Cruz arrived at Galveston to-day and could be utilized to transport the Fourth Field Artillery detachment required to complete Gen. Funston's theoretical brigade formation. Rush orders, it is reported, have been issued to their commanders to be ready to sail again on Friday.

Meanwhile the War Department is keeping close watch over commercial vessels that might be commandeered as transports if a sudden need should arise.
